presents

*The Year
of
New Dimensions*

Dedication

To our patients of the past, the present, and the future, we wish to dedicate this yearbook. To them alone we owe our gratitude, for through them we have gained confidence and competence to further expand our knowledge. For them, we shall bring forth new dimensions in nursing care, and to them, we offer ourselves in mind, in body, and in spirit.

A Year of Change

A basic assumption of education is the school exists to help the student. In a world of continual change and advancement it is only fitting and necessary that our institution change and advance in order to aid us, the students.

In the past year we of Vassar Brothers School of Nursing have experienced a radical change. Our administration, seeking to prepare us to meet the demands of society and to provide us with a more adequate education has given help by means of a new curriculum.

Traditions are not easily broken. With sudden abruptness we find ourselves in a new program -- a two-year program replacing the previous three-years. Yes, we found problems; all adjustments were not made easily. But in this modern age of new dimensions, we especially, entering a field of service to humanity, must not be rigid, relying only on the old; not so pliable that we change with every whim -- but discriminating in our changes -- to adjustments which benefit ourselves and as a result our profession.

Within these pages you will find two distinct classes. One, the last of the three-year program the other, the first of the two. Though we are different we are trying to work together to help make the new two-year program a success for us and all who will enter the new dimension of nursing in the future.

Years from now, you will reflect on your graduation and recapture the feelings you are presently experiencing -- feelings of accomplishment, anticipation and the sudden realization that a world overflowing with opportunity was suddenly placed before you.

The roads leading from the commencement exercises are numerous indeed. Some of you will travel at full speed down super highways; others will choose roads less traveled and will encounter many detours and obstacles.

The people at IBM sincerely wish you the wisdom to choose the right road, utilizing your full potential, and the fortitude to make the journey you are now embarking on a rich and rewarding one.

Dear Parents

Time has flown.
Almost three years
 have flourished and died
 with the seasons.
We are alone now
 in this strange world.
Our paths of life are set
 and now must be followed
 with strength and faith.
With open minds
 we shall strive to understand
 our bretheren;
With open arms
 we shall comfort those
 who need us;
And with open hearts
 we shall give our love.

With your patience,
 your help,
 your guidance and love
 we are now able to give of ourselves.
Thank you dear parents
 for this precious gift.

At the End of a Nurse's Day

Seven o'clock! And the nurse's work
Was done for another day.
She heaved a sort of tired sigh
And put the charts away.

Then sat for a moment and bowed her head
Over the little white desk --
"I wonder," said she to herself, "after all, "
Am I really doing my best?"

"Perhaps I could have begun the day
With a brighter, cheerier smile
And answered the bells with -- 'Right away'
Instead of 'After awhile.' "

"And I might have listened with sweeter grace,
To the story of 'Six's' woes:
She may be suffering more, perhaps
More than anyone knows."

"And I might have refrained from the half-way frown
Although I was busy then,
When the frail little girl with sad blue eyes,
Kept ringing again and again."

"And I might have spoken a kindlier word
To the heart of that restless boy,
And stopped a moment to help him find
The missing part of his toy."

"Or perhaps the patient in thirty-five
Just needed a gentler touch;
There are lots of things I might have done
And it wouldn't have taken much."

She sighed again and brushed a tear
Then whispered -- praying low
"My God, how can you accept this day,
When it has been lacking so?"

And God looked down -- He heard the sigh
He saw the shining tear:
Then sent His Angel Messenger,
To whisper in her ear . . .

"You could have done better today,
But, Oh! The Omnipotent One
Seeing your faults, does not forget,
The beautiful things you have done . . . "

"He knows, little nurse, that you love your work,
In this house of pain and sorrow
So gladly forgives the lack of today
For you will do better tomorrow."

The nurse looked up with grateful smile
"Tomorrow -- I'll make it right;"
Then added a note in the order book,
"Be good to them tonight."
